

IC Manage Hires Dennis Harmon as VP of Business Development to Extend Leadership in IC Design Management

December 3, 2007 – Los Gatos, CA – IC Manage, Inc. today announced that EDA industry veteran Dennis Harmon has been named VP of Business Development. Mr. Harmon will oversee worldwide sales and strategic alliances, driving the company's aggressive growth strategy.

Dennis Harmon joins IC Manage with more than 20 years of management experience in the electronic design automation industry. Most recently he was CEO of Zenasis Technologies. Prior to Zenasis, Harmon was co-founder and CEO of Synchronicity (now Dassault), a design management and collaboration solutions provider. Prior to Synchronicity, Mr. Harmon held various corporate management positions at Viewlogic Systems (now Synopsys), including heading up the company's worldwide strategic accounts and corporate applications organizations.

"We are pleased to have such a high quality executive as Dennis join the IC Manage team," said Dean Drako, President and CEO of IC Manage. "His history of leadership in design management and extensive experience in establishing and maintaining satisfying customer relationships will complement IC Manage's existing technical strengths."

"Traditional design management systems do not take advantage of today's advances in network technology, disk storage technology and underlying operating systems," stated Harmon. "By taking advantage of these new advances, IC Manage is the next generation Design Management platform for global chip design."
